

RICHARD MILLE
Cup

2026

The 2026 Richard Mille Cup will take place from 15 to 25 June.

It will gather a fleet of historic yachts to race on the deep and protected waters of the Firth of Clyde. Based at Largs, the racing will be set against the dramatic scenery of the Cumbrae Islands, the Isles of Bute, Arran and the Ailsa Craig.

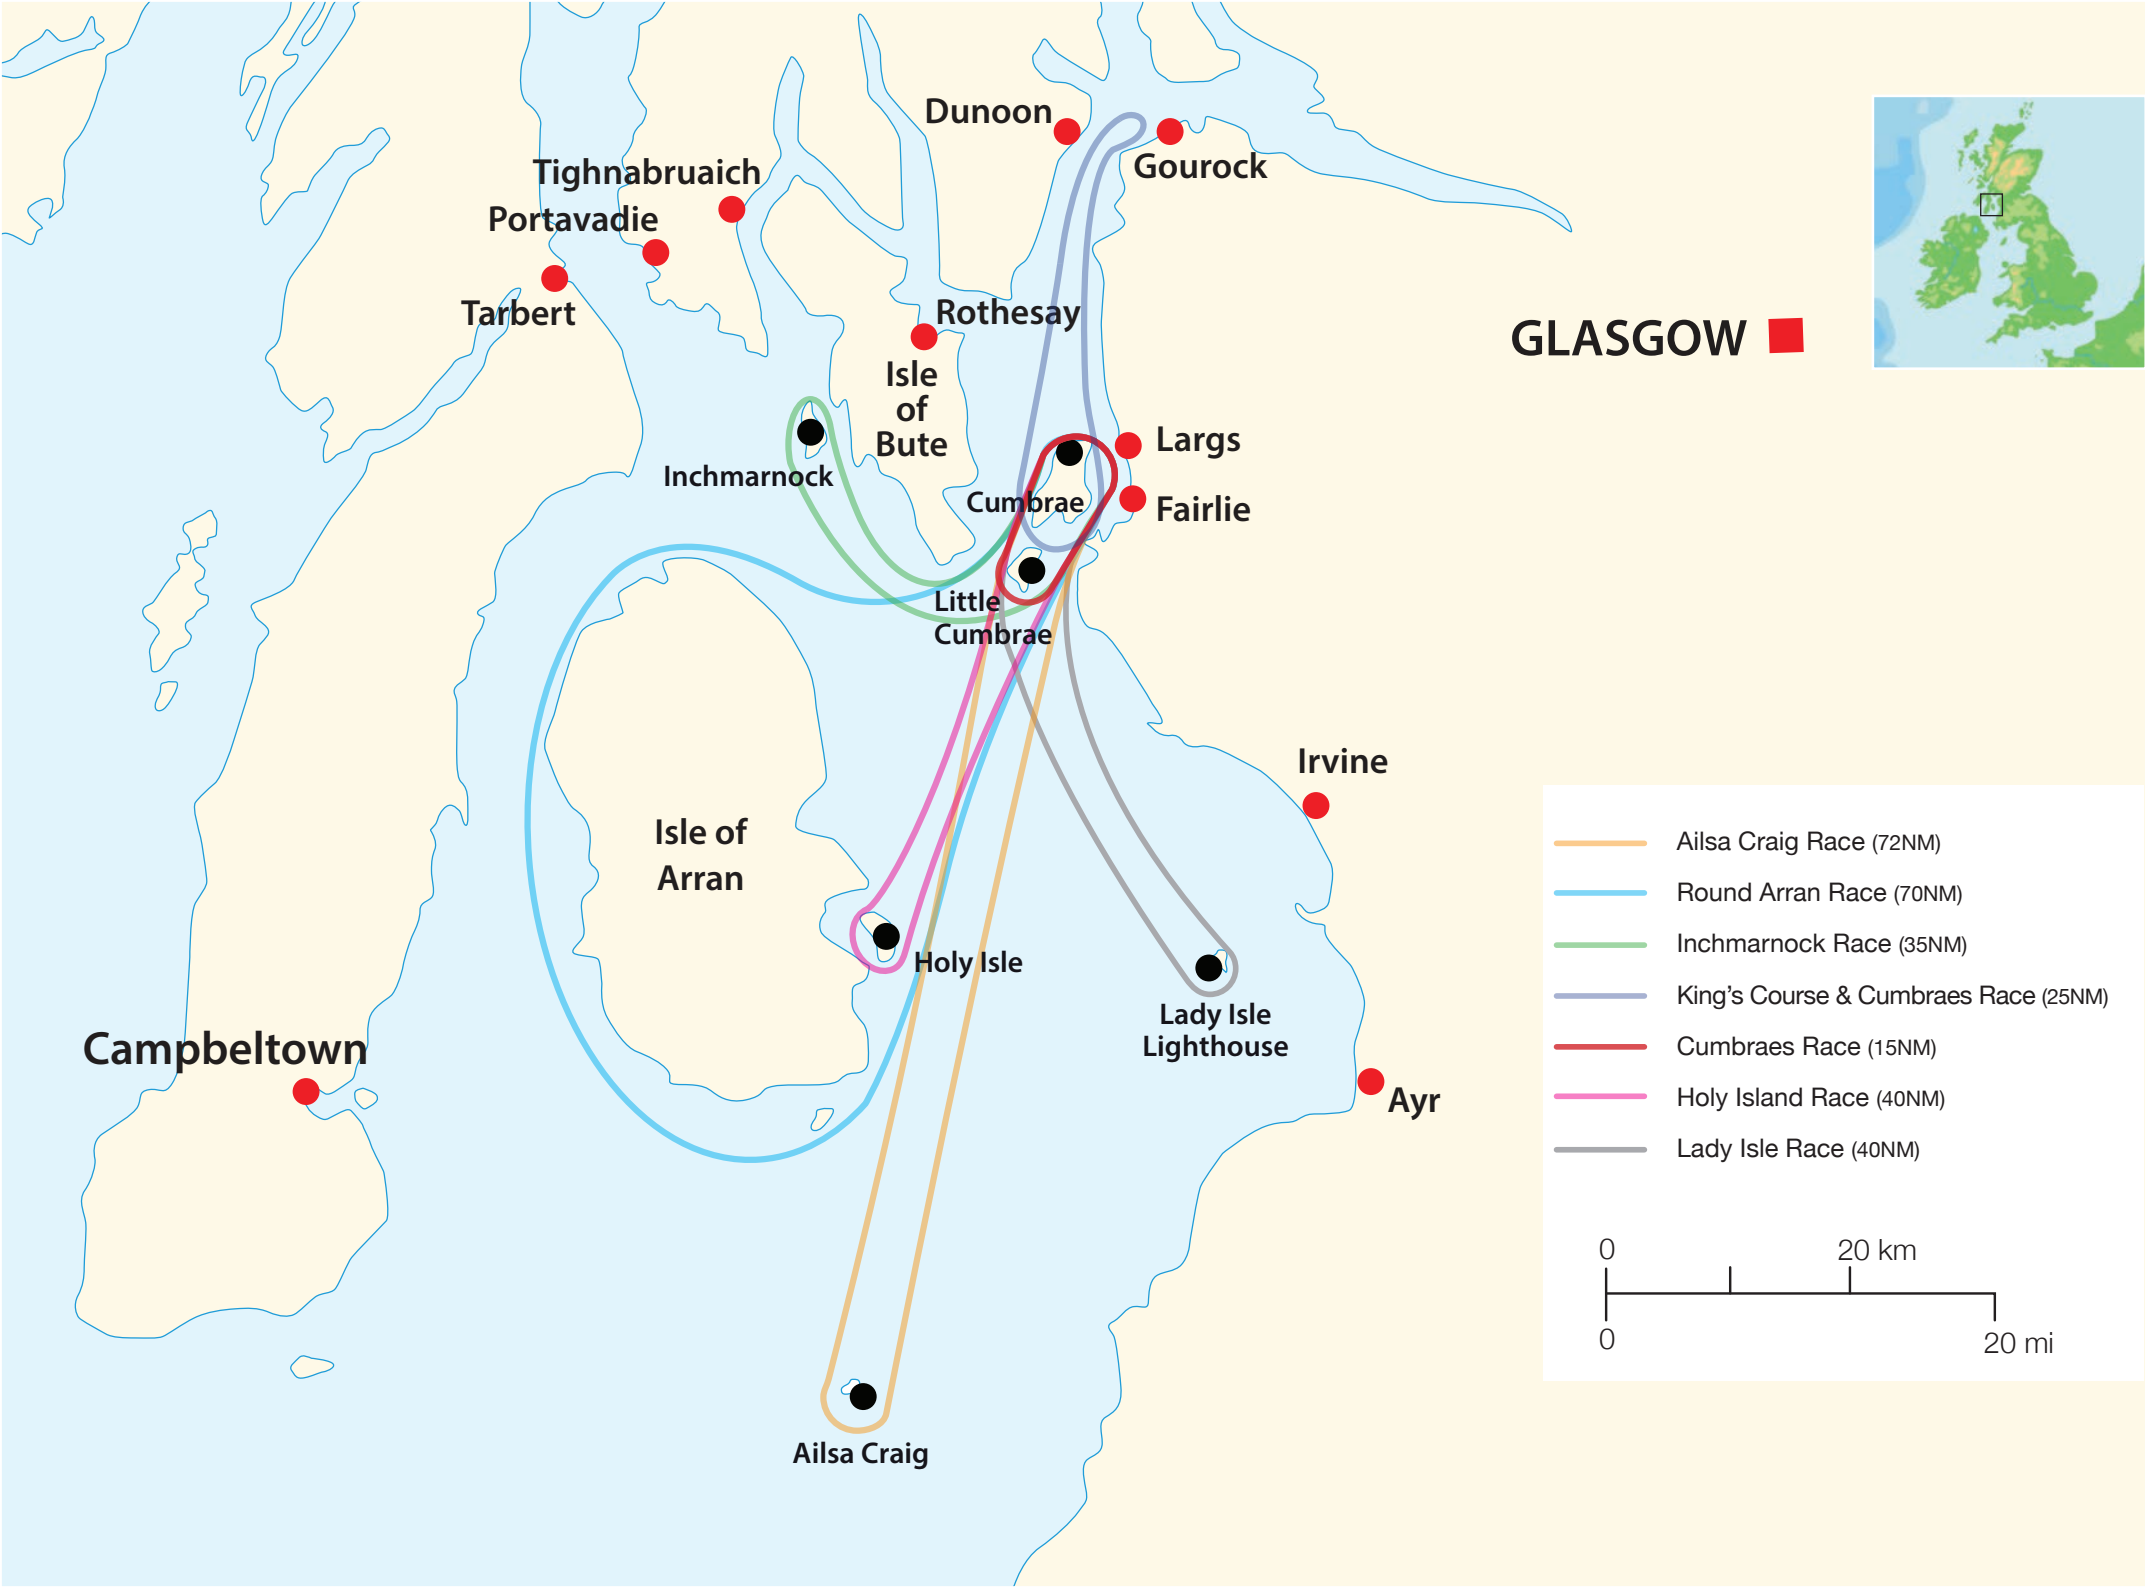

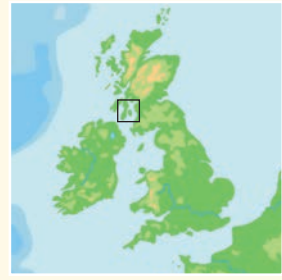

Racing will be arranged to suit all sizes and classes of invited yachts.

We will arrange the courses to gain maximum benefit from the spectacular scenery, setting courses each day in accordance with weather forecasts. The courses shown opposite show some of the possibilities that the Firth of Clyde offers.

GLASGOW ■

The Clyde is one of the great cradles of yachting.

From its waters the legendary yachts of the Fife dynasty, G. L. Watson, and Alfred Mylne, set sail and conquered the world, winning the affections of classic yacht sailors everywhere. Like previous editions, the Richard Mille Cup will include both long and short races. This will allow us to recreate mythical races such as the Ailsa Craig race.

We recognise that the differing racing formats will provide a range of challenges for all the yachts, and the Cup will reward all-round performance throughout the whole competition. Whilst we will hold spectacular social events in stunning venues, the emphasis will be on racing our classic yachts.

Culzean Castle

Dumfries House

Racing classic yachts can be tough but it must also be fun. At the Richard Mille Cup we will host spectacular receptions.

With fine food and wines these are an opportunity to meet new and old friends and to discover a little of Scotland's history. On race days there will be an open bar for pre-dinner drinks and those all-important post-race discussions.

The Trophy and the Winners

Mariette

Winner of the Richard Mille Cup 2023

The House of Garrad has a rich heritage in iconic sporting trophies including the Ascot Gold Cup, the British Masters Trophy, the Cricket World Cup and of course in our sport, the America's Cup.

From the outset of this new classic yacht racing series, Richard Mille wanted to create a trophy befitting the event and its competitors.

Mariquita

Winner of the Richard Mille Cup 2024
